CITY IS EXPECTED TO DENY REQUESTS FOR BUDGET HIKES

Department Heads Ask for $2,603,724 More in Operating Costs But Opinion Is They'll Get
No More Than in 1936.

NEW CITY REGIME TO BE ECONOMICAL

Budget for 1937 Will Not Be Finally Made Up
Until Incoming Money
Committee Passes on It.

Requests for an increase of $2,- 603,724 for operation and improvements in 34 nonschool city departments in 1937 will meet with little or no success, incoming administration leaders said yesterday.

Strong indication that department heads will be held to the level of 1936 expenditures or even lower was given when a total of $7,707,- 443 was asked to operate the departments which were allocated only $5,103,419 in 1936.

Request from the nonschool department heads for 1937 appropriations, and including the schools' 30 per cent of taxes, would run Atlanta's operating bill to approximately $12,000,000 for the year.

"Not a Chance."

Incoming administration leaders pointed out that increases are not in line with the Hartsfield economy program and said bluntly "there is no chance they will be granted."

Figures on the 1937 appropriations asked were compiled by B.
Graham West, city controller, who is working on the 1937 budget, which will not be finally made up until the 1937 budget committee acts upon it.

Largest increases over the 1936 allocations were asked by the water department, the construction department, the police department, the parks department and the fire department.

Return to the base pay schedule was also asked by virtually all the department heads and several asked for additional help.

Wants New Filter.

Zode Smith, head of the water department, requested more than $1,- 500,000 for a new filter plant, new pumps with improvements to be made on the water mains also. His department total in 1936 was $431,000.

Pope Pius May Deliver Christmas Eve Address

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 18.—(AP)— Prelates proceeded today with plans for Pope Pius' traditional Christmas Eve sermon of cardinals, believing the holy father is gaining against his 13-day illness.

At that time the pontiff delivers his address summing up his joys and sorrows of the dying year. If no setback intervenes with the Pope's plan it was considered certain he would deliver it particularly to the agonies of the Spanish civil war.

This conflict has absorbed his attention for many months.

The Pope, in accordance with his advice of his physicians, limited his activities today. But again, Cardinal Pacelli was his only visitor. A setback in his condition yesterday was blamed on overexertion.

CCC Youths Comb Snow-Covered Mountains for Plane

Associated Press Photo

Persistent in the face of bitter winter weather, CCC boys are shown searching snow-covered mountains near Alpine, Utah, for trace of the Western Air Express plane which vanished in that vicinity with seven persons aboard. Little hope was held that any of the passengers or crew would be found alive.

SECOND AIR LINER LOST IN FAR WEST

Two Pilots and Cargo of Mail Aboard Plane;
Widening Search Fails.

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 18.—(AP)— Men around and in planes swarmed over snow-covered western prairies and mountains today, searching for two transport airmen, missing with their nine occupants.

The lost craft are:

1. A twin-motored, 10-passenger ship of Western Air Express. It disappeared with a crew of three and four passengers Tuesday morning en route from Los Angeles. It was believed down in Utah mountains, all aboard feared dead.

2. A Northwest Airlines all-metal, low wing transport. It vanished early today in the snow-drifted timberland of the Colorado Rockies. The Washington state border. Spokane-bound, two pilots were the only occupants.

Pursuing a new hope that the Western Air Express plane might have set down safely in a remote spot in Nevada, Ralph Hall, a searching pilot, abandoned his plane at Tonopah and set out with motor car parties to investigate a series of lights resembling flares, seen Tuesday.

5000 Miles in Search.

Reports came from communities 100
to 200 miles east of Tonopah.

Nearly a score of airplanes and hundreds of men pushed on the hunt in Utah. Four planes roared above searching parties in the north Idaho hills for the second plane.

"Aside from the magnitude of the effort," said A. E. Cahalan, Western Air spokesman, at Salt Lake City,
"probably the most experienced crew of pilots ever mustered for such a search is participating."

The twin ships, Cahalan said, flew a total of 50,000 miles today
and used 3,000 gallons of gas.

STEPHENS MITCHELL IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF BAR ASSOCIATION

Atlanta Lawyers Honor Associate Justice Gilbert,
Soon To Retire.

Stephens Mitchell was elected president of the Atlanta Bar association at its annual meeting last night. John B. McCallum, first vice president, and William G. Grant, second vice president, were other officers named for 1937. Thomas B. Branch Jr. is automatically retained as secretary-treasurer.

The dinner was given in honor of Stirling Price Gilbert, associate justice of the supreme court of Georgia for the past 20 years, who resigns his office December 31.

Resolutions of tribute to Justice Gilbert were adopted by the five associate members of the supreme court and by members of the Atlanta Bar Association. The resolution at the meeting, Justice Gilbert was presented a loving cup, a gift of his associates. The presentation was made by Justice R. C. Bell in the absence of Chief Justice Richard B. Russell Sr.

In expressing his appreciation, Justice Gilbert told members of the association that the bar now has the best lawyers in its history. He complimented the schools of the state and the board of examiners for their part in turning out capable lawyers to practice in the courts.

"The country is not ruled by wealth," the retiring justice said, "but by justice. It is this which makes our country a great one."

Bond Almand, retiring president, was presented a silver tray by association members as a gift of appreciation of the work done during the past year. The secretary's report revealed there are now 532 members of the Atlanta Bar association.

SECOND AIR TRANSPORT IS LOST IN NORTHWEST

—Pilot Joe Livermore and Copilot A. G. Haid—last were heard from by radio at 5:10 a. m., Atlanta time. Then, Spokane-bound from Missoula, Mont., the craft was 80 miles from Ell River, which is roughly along the Washington-Idaho border.

Through ground crews launched new thrusts at the blizzard-battered region high in the mountains, 25 miles southeast of Salt Lake City, chief hope of finding the Western Air Express ship was centered in plane search sweeping a 1,000 square miles.

A reported clue southeast of here—word of mountain trees "sheared" off as by a crashing plane—faded after searchers failed to locate the spot.

SEARCHING PARTY SEEKS TO FIND FLARES IN SPANISH MOUNTAINS

ATLANTA, Dec. 18.—(AP)—A searching party seeking the missing Western Air Express transport plane camped high in the bleak Kavich mountain range tonight watching for recurrence of flares reported seen Tuesday.

The party, led by Ralph Hilt, chief pilot for an oil company, tramped into the mountain country after a survey flight as far as Revelle, 75 miles east, failed to reveal a clue to the plane missing since Tuesday with seven passengers.

If the airliner is in the Kavich region, it was more than 100 miles off its course.

high leaders of the Nanking regime to hear from Chiang Tien Wei—the second emissary in two days—from Sianfu—the latest word on the generalissimo's plight and terms on which his captor proposed to free him and end the civil war.

Complete secrecy wrapped the meeting, directed by soldiers.

Prove Chiang Support.

From inner Mongolia dispatches through Peking reported developments which officials said proved China's solidarity in support of Generalissimo Chiang.

The Mongol prince, Tel Wang, and the Chahar province guerrillas recently at war with loyal Chinese troops on the Suiyuan frontier, circulated a telegram in which they announced their latest cease participation in the attacks on Suiyuan province and declared allegiance to the Nanking generalissimo.

The telegram stated the crisis in Shensi province demands that all elements in China rally to the support of Nanking.

Officials at Peiping said this demonstrated what a tremendous hold General Chiang had on the loyalties of all races living under the Chinese regime.

• VIRGINIA, TENNESSEE ENACT JOB INSURANCE IN TIME TO GET TAXES

Kentucky Considers Call for Like Purpose; Alabama's
Vote Pay for Recess.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 18.—(P)—Virginia's unemployment insurance act became law today with the signature of Governor Peery, the legislature completed action on the soil conservation bill and both houses cleared the way for adjournment tomorrow.

If the act is approved as submitted, legislative leaders believed, there would be no obstacles to adjournment before the day ended, though some bills remain to be passed, little or no opposition is in sight to impede their passage.

A change was made in the unemployment compensation bill, principal reason for the extra session, after it had been signed by Lieutenant Governor James H. Price, and Speaker Ashton Dovell.

The Governor asked elimination of an amendment, inserted yesterday just before passage, providing for exemption of state banks from the state tax in the event congress exempts them from the federal tax on pay rolls.

McALISTER SIGNS UNEMPLOYMENT BILL

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 18.—(P)—Tennessee's unemployment compensation bill, enacted by the legislature in extra session, was signed into law by Governor McAlister this afternoon. Effective immediately, it allows the state to get $2,600,000 in benefits from the federal pay roll tax this year.

ALABAMANS PAY SELVES FOR 18-DAY RECESS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 18.—(P)—Alabama's special session legislature, having enacted a state 1-1-2-gross receipts tax, has voted to suspend amusements, and temporarily shelved prohibition repeal, adjourned today until Jan. 5.

Just before the legislators left for the holiday a move was launched by Representative John Chichester, Birmingham, to supplant the gross receipts tax legislation signed yesterday by Governor Graves, by a 2 per cent general sales tax.

The legislature ordered full pay for all members and legislative clerks and officials during the Christmas recess. Opponents of the holiday pay said it would cost the state $20,000. Under a resolution each law maker will get $10 a day in salary during the 18-day recess.

CASH TOTALING $3,000 TAKEN BY 2 GUNMEN AT BANK IN CRAWFORD

Robbers, Clad in Overalls, Require Cashier, Customer To Lie on Floor.

CRAWFORD, Ga., Dec. 18.—(AP)—Two over-all-clad gunmen robbed the Commercial Bank here today of cash, estimated by E. H. Furcron, cashier, at $3,000.

Furcron, who followed the bandits to the bank door, said they fired several ineffective shots at him as they sped away in an automobile driven by a confederate.

The two men, hats pulled over their eyes, entered the bank shortly after 1 p. m., E. S. T. (12 o'clock Atlanta time), the cashier said, and overpowered him and a customer, Howard McWhorter, of Atlanta.

"Lie down on the floor and keep quiet, or I'll kill you."

One of the bandits then took all the currency in the cash drawer and vault, Furcron said.

The cashier described one of the men as "middle-aged," the other as "a young fellow."

Federal Department of Justice agents took charge of the investigation.

Furcron said the automobile headed north, in the direction of Comer.

HENRY FORD DELAYS GEORGIA DEPARTURE

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 18.—(AP)—Henry Ford delayed his departure for Dearborn, Mich., and spent today looking over projects at his winter home in Bryan county, about 20 miles from here.

It was reported early today he left last night with Mrs. Ford but they were seen late in the day. A steam-powered locomotive was hitched to Ford's private coach, ready to move it to-night or tomorrow for connections with a through railroad, the newspaper said.

The resolution asked that the commission be composed of members of the legislature, the County Commissioners' Association, the Mayors' Association, the Georgia Federation of Labor, the Georgia Education Association, the Georgia Real Estate Taxpayers Association and the Georgia Real Estate Association.

ATTACK ON NEIGHBORS WILL BE CONSIDERED UNFRIENDLY BY BRAZIL

Injury to Any American Nation an 'Unfriendly Act,' Aranha Asserts.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Brazil warned the world today it would consider "injury" to any American nation by any foreign country "an unfriendly act."

Oswaldo Aranha, Brazilian ambassador to Washington, thumped his chest and pounded on a desk as he roared the pronouncement to "the peace organization committee of the inter-American peace conference."

His statement came as the committee was debating a Central American recommendation for an expression of solidarity among the 21 American republics.

The project under which "injury or aggression" by an outside country would be declared an "offense" to all American nations—had been strongly assailed by the Argentine delegation, which argued the phraseology was too sweeping and that such a commitment would have to be studied as part of a formal convention.

Voice Commands Attention.

Arana, in a booming voice which attracted the attention of visitors to the committee room from all parts of Anchorage palace, asserted:

"Any injury to any American nation will be considered by Brazil as an unfriendly act."

His country would take that attitude whether or not the Central American resolution was adopted, he said.

Delegates applauded at length.

"The feeling of continental security," Aranha declared, "will become a fact when any nation of this continent is the victim of injury from any nation from outside this continent."

Argentina's opposition to the Central American recommendation brought criticism, but the committee decided by a vote of 20 to 1 that a subcommittee should redraft the Central American declaration, retaining its principal features.

Shun Bolivia's Plea.

Landlocked Bolivia's plea for arrangements to give it outlets to the Pacific and Atlantic oceans and the Amazon river was turned down at the special peace conference which is supervising fulfillment of the Bolivian-Paraguayan Chaco War settlement.

The economic committee approved a Mexican draft convention intended to speed up construction of the Pan-American highway, partially built in Mexico and Central America, with an amendment sponsored by Cuba and Dominican Republic for a system of ferries carrying automobiles to connect the mainland route with the Caribbean republics.

HULL STRESSES IMPORTANCE OF PEACE

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull, in a broad message from Buenos Aires tonight, stressed the importance of creating and maintaining democratic institutions in all the American nations in order to preserve peace in the western world.

The message, read by Alexander Weddell, American ambassador to Argentina, said that during the past three weeks of the inter-American peace conference "the atmosphere of good neighborliness between our various republics has become more and more cordial."

"Rapid progress" was reported, "so much so," said the message, "that we are prepared to say that in the final outcome this conference will have represented the greatest forward move for peace in which a whole continent has ever engaged."

In the connection between democracy and peace in the Americas, the secretary's message said:

"The first step in preserving peace among nations is vitalizing the principles of democracy and the institutions of it. It is of greatest importance that in each republic a well-informed and expressive public opinion be nourished and made effective."

PLANE PASSENGER DIES IN 3,500-FOOT LEAP

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 18. (UP)—An unidentified man was killed today when he leaped from the cockpit of a plane and plunged through the roof of a house 3,500 feet away.

The man, who had cards in his pocket, was leaping the name Arturo Trevino, et, bearing a sightseeing ticket at Stinson field, commercial airport, for a trip over San Antonio.

Victor James, pilot of the ship, said that he talked to the passenger before the flight and that the man was enthusiastic over the trip.

Reaching an altitude of 3,000 feet, James said he felt the plane sway. He turned to see his passenger climb over the side of the cockpit and hurtle downward.

The body turned and twisted for the full 3,500 feet, James said. Then it struck the roof of a house and shot down out of sight.

G. O. P. BREATHING SPELL

Action of the Republican national committee in declining to accept the resignation of Chairman John D. M.
Hamilton at its recent meeting in Chicago, linked with the confidences of Republican senators now in Washington to determine whether the party shall be rebuilt along so-called "liberal" or "conservative" lines, indicates that both wings of the organization are disposed for the present to observe a "breathing spell," during which leaders will give the problem of reorganization careful consideration, with the hope of arriving at some solution that will be acceptable to both elements of the party.

The session of the national committee just held in Chicago was a turbulent event, and the acrimonious speeches of several members of the body for a time threatened to precipitate an adjournment with no action of any kind, intensifying the split between the factions within
the party.

Sharp attacks on Chairman Hamilton evoked a spirited defense. Participants clashed on demands for liberalization of Republican policy and criticism of the party's action on social problems. Representative Hamilton Fish, of New York, precipitated the general argument by declaring:

If the party does not liberalize and reorganize, it dies. Hamilton led the fight against the social security act which alienated millions of wage earners. He has shown that his associates comprise the "old guard." We are a quarter of a century behind the times.

Representative Everett Dirksen, of Illinois, took up the discussion of social problems, declaring Republican chieftains needed "a damned good lecture" on ascertaining what the people desired. Dirksen concluded his heated comment by saying:

You're indulging in self-glorification and adulation. You're trying to salve your conscience and you don't want away with it.

Hamilton admitted "there were a lot of errors" in the campaign preceding the party's crushing defeat
but contended, "We still have a future ahead of us."

With this admission, and observing that the meeting was making no constructive progress, the committee voted, 74 to 2, to continue Hamilton in power until the warring factions could unite on some form of compromise, which will possibly emanate from the quieter councils of the Republican senators, who are already looking ahead to the congressional elections in 1938 and considering policies of the party for the presidential campaign of 1940.

PAUPERS IN TRAILERS

While nomadically inclined families with ample money to pay as they go are motorizing hither and yon across the country in de luxe auto trailers, and some 300 manufacturing plants are busily engaged in meeting an insistent demand for the better class of trailers, another class of automobile gypsies is becoming a source of concern for cities and villages from one end of the country to the other.

Their outfit is usually an automobile that should be on the scrap-heap and the trailer a homemade affair on wheels, possibly a discarded relic of the early days of the trailer. Cash on hand is represented by what some member of the outfit can pick up working on an odd job or begging from philanthropic individuals. Not all of those traveling in "homemade" trailers are of this class, but a large number undoubtedly are.

Some of these gasoline nomads are genuine victims of the depression, seeking a place to locate permanently. They are to be pitied and assisted when possible; but it is difficult to identify the genuine from the spurious. A recent instance brought to light in Pennsylvania illustrates this. Arrested on a minor charge, a man was found to be traveling about the country in a trailer with his wife and one child, accompanied by a girl who had recently given birth to a child of which he was the admitted father.

He wore the pin of a fraternal order and admitted that their sole source of income was what he could "borrow" from members of the order to which he claimed membership.

Frank Miller, executive director of the Atlanta department of public welfare, reports that paupers in trailers are already a problem for the relief authorities of this city.
One case brought to attention of the department was a man with an advanced case of tuberculosis, while one family recently drove up to Hospital in a trailer seeking treatment for three children who had measles.

Commenting on the situation, Mayor-elect Hartfield said: "The taxpayers are moving out of the city and the relief burden is moving in."

The problem is growing, and is made a real menace when persons with communicable ailments are moving about the country, stopping where they will, or when the supply of gas gives out.

PEACE MEET PROGRESS

The first rift to develop at the Pan-American conference in Buenos Aires has developed, not surprisingly, incident to the consideration of a subcommittee's recommendation for creation of an American league of nations, patterned after the politically defunct European organization, and which is sponsored by the representatives from Colombia and the Dominican Republic. Argentine and Brazilian delegates led opposition to the idea, and after caustic exchanges final action was postponed.

The delegates from Colombia and Dominican Republic went to Buenos Aires with a firm determination to put through their program, but from the very first it has been opposed by most of the leading nations, and it is not in line with desires of the United States.

The policy of "the good neighbor,"
so eloquently voiced by President Roosevelt at the opening session, plus the tactful diplomacy of Secretary Hull, has permeated the atmosphere of all sessions, and there is little danger that the flurry over the league question will act to nullify the underlying object of the conference.

Whatever peace pact is adopted will, in all probability, not bind its signatories to ignore their domestic legislation or their obligations under other pacts, and in the event of war they will remain free to enact domestic legislation suiting their individual situation. The most that is anticipated is that the Americans will consult together and perhaps will find ways to co-ordinate their policies so as to prevent war elsewhere with a united front.

It would be too much to attempt to make the, as yet, untested neutrality laws of the United States applicable throughout the western hemisphere, even if the major number of the 21 nations were agreeable to such a concerted policy.

Whatever formal agreements result from the conference now in progress, the change in the attitude toward the United States can be regarded as highly satisfactory and as pointing to a more friendly feeling than has obtained in the past.

This is reflected in the United States delegation winning approval of the economic committee for its recommendation that governments of the 21 republics establish equality of treatment in international trade.

The measure will go before the next plenary session for final approval, which appears assured, and will open the way for Secretary Hull to begin negotiations for agreements with the various nations under the reciprocal trade act, which is now acting to revive our export trade.

No modern war could be waged to a clear-cut decision on American soil. Too many motorists would be attracted to the scene and impede the heroes.

"A GOOD CHRISTMAS."

It was at the lunch counter in a railroad yard in Chicago. The air was filled with a misty rain and the smoke from the locomotives. The biting wind was whipping through the yard.

A group of railroad men sat at the lunch counter eating the tasty dinner of turkey and pudding and coffee and all the other trimmings. They were working on Christmas Day, but they were not in a hurry to get home.

"Boys, I can't eat my dinner with that face at the door," said one of them. He went to the door, took the little fellow by the hand, brought him into the warm lunch room, and ordered another dinner. The little fellow dangled his legs from the high stool and his face lighted with the first smile in any of the steaming plate of delicious food we set before him. He ate with a greedy appetite as they watched him eat.
Presently, he looked up into the face of the man who had brought him in,
and said:

"It's so good—first Christmas dinner
I ever had—thank you so much."

The big trainman paid the bill,
took a last swig of the black, hot coffee, and set up his collar to go back to his switch engine.

"Well, sorry I had to miss being with the family today, but I've had a good Christmas just the same. Come on, let's go."

What is the lesson? You can't have a good Christmas unless you are in the sharing spirit. There isn't a better way in the world to give a Merry Christmas to a miserly children who shuns himself in and finger his gold alone, but he does his best, even with his little, to make another happy will have a good Christmas.

it is rewarded."

Now that red flannel underwear and railroading are coming back, the setup is ideal for some hero at a washout.

ACTORS USE PROXIES IN CHRISTMAS BUYING

Film Stars Seek To Avoid Autograph Hunters During Holidays.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Hollywood's stars—ever alert to put the artful dodge on autograph seekers—are doing their Christmas shopping in disguise or by "proxy."

Some stars, who can get away with it, go about wearing the usual dark glasses and slouch hats. Others, who have decided to dispense with the costume, have hired shopping stooges.

Joan Crawford has her secretary do her Christmas buying. Joan went to a Hollywood store an hour before closing time, but the autograph seekers cornered her. By the time she got through signing books, she had to attend.

Charles Cobert has gone in for simplicity—ultra-quiet clothes, a different coiffure and a small coupe instead of a flashy chauffeur-driven equipage. Thus decked out, she seldom is recognized on buying tours.

Myra Loy, whose freckles are her street disguise, is doing her own and Clark Gable's Christmas shopping. The two are working together again.

Forrest MacMurray made the rounds of the stores wearing ordinary glasses he got from the prop department. He passed unnoticed.

Some stars, of course, can't disguise themselves no matter what they do. Mac West does her shopping by telephone.

Charlie Lombard, engaged on a picture, had a store send out samples of many kinds of gifts and from there chose her presents.

Robert Montgomery, buying jewels for a relative, entertained—and bought from—two salesmen who brought their stores to him.

Glenda Swarthout, to avoid fan attention, sends her secretary, Alma Capen, on buying trips. George Brent does his shopping by proxy too.

TO GET BACK PAY.

DALLAS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Members of the faculty of Southern Methodist University today looked forward to one of the brightest Christmases in several years. The faculty, whose salaries that $19,470, representing salary cuts made in 1932-33, would be paid them. About 130 will receive refunds.

Tribute Paid to Miss Ruth Blair By Historical Society Members

More Than 150 Persons Attend Testimonial Dinner; Dr. H. J. Pierce, of Emory University, Speaks on Study of South's Past.

More than 150 Atlanta men and women braved a cloudburst and flooded streets last night to pay homage to Miss Ruth Blair who, on her 10th birthday, took over the management of the Atlanta Historical Society.

The study of our past is not an ancestor worship," said Dr. Pierce. "It is the study of the past to the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club, where the testimonial dinner was held, and all the seats were filled, in spite of the stormy scene that was being staged outdoors.

More than a dozen Atlantans paid tribute to the woman who has won a national reputation as a skilled and learned archivist and who is moving at the head of the new year into a new post that will mean the development within Atlanta of a recognition of its historic background and the assembly and preservation of long-neglected records that tell the story of the city's founding and rise to its present outstanding rank.

Principal speaker was Dr. H. J. Pierce, professor of American history at Emory University and author of a biography of Bell Hill.

Congratulating the Atlanta Historical Society on obtaining the services of Miss Blair, Dr. Pierce declared that the activity in the management of historical societies is disproportionate to that of other sections of the country.

"The study of our past is not an ancestor worship," said Dr. Pierce. "It is the study of the past to the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club, where the testimonial dinner was held, and all the seats were filled, in spite of the stormy scene that was being staged outdoors.

New Laughton Triumph Opens Run at Grand

Proving once more that he is one of filmland's really great actors, Charles Laughton yesterday brought another vivid portrayal to the screen of "Loew's Grand" theater in the title of "Rembrandt," cinematic biography of the famous Flemish master.

The cast is of general all-round excellence, with admirable performances by Gertrude Lawrence; Elsa Lanchester, who is Laughton's wife in private life; Edward Chapman, John Bryning, Walter Hudd, Alan Johns, and C. F. C.

Credit should go also to Alexander Korda, who directed and produced the film, for bringing to the screen the life story of a man whose name is known to all, and yet about whose life most persons are unfamiliar.

The story is set in the Rembrandt's studio in Amsterdam, at the height of his fame, paints a huge canvas virtually against his will. It arouses the anger of members of the "Civis Guard," whom he has painted not flatteringly, but truthfully. After the death of his wife, he turns upon Rembrandt. Reduced to poverty, he returns to his peasant home in Leyden, but there, too, is misunderstood and once more returns to Amsterdam.

His life is brightened briefly by Hendrickje, a peasant girl, who serves as his model, and Rembrandt is left to the passing years making him a cynical disillusioned man.

The film is filled with touching, poignant moments. Settings, photograph, direction, musical score all deserve praise.

Numerous short subjects, including King Edward's farewell speech, and a Silly Symphony, complete the bill.

'Polo Joe' Features New Paramount Bill

"Polo Joe" galloped into the Paramount theater yesterday for a week's run and scored goal after goal with the audience in a chukker of fast action and comical situations.

Ten years ago, China left Joe to a life of knowledge of Chinese songs and adeptness with a pair of chopsticks, but absolutely no knowledge of the noble game of polo. And he finds that exactly the thing he should know when he returns to the southern home of his Aunt Minnie falls in love, with beautiful drawing Mary Hillier, whose interest in men is general, and in a sweetheart in particular, is centered in their ability to play polo.

Joe has himself kidnapped, to avoid playing with his new friend's team, but a mad rescue dash and another mad dash back to the polo field puts him back on the saddle again.

Adding humor to the thriller is Allen Skipworth and George Hassell, his pen-pecked other half.

From 10,000 to 20,000 workers at the River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company were idle because of an interruption in the flow of parts required for the assembly. Curtailed operations for a similar reason were reported at the company's Buffalo, N. Y., assembly plant, and at the Pierce-Arrow Motor Corporation, also at Buffalo.

Ward's automotive reports, estimating this week's production at a record-breaking December figure of 122,960 cars and trucks, noted what it described as "undercurrents of major significance" and added that "a general wave of sympathy is passing from one plant to another when labor trouble develops."

"Such a condition," Ward's said, "is a new one in the auto industry."

Ward's automotive reports, estimating this week's production at a record-breaking December figure of 122,960 cars and trucks, noted what it described as "undercurrents of major significance" and added that "a general wave of sympathy is passing from one plant to another when labor trouble develops."

"Such a condition," Ward's said, "is a new one in the auto industry."

From 10,000 to 20,000 workers at the River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company were idle because of an interruption in the flow of parts required for the assembly. Curtailed operations for a similar reason were reported at the company's Buffalo, N. Y., assembly plant, and at the Pierce-Arrow Motor Corporation, also at Buffalo.

GIANT PURCHASE OF ALBANY CLUB EXPECTED SOON

Details Complete Except for Dickerling Over Purchase Price.

By Scotty Reston.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Transfer of the Albany club of the International league to a New York Giant farm in Jersey City neared the big baseball moving van today.

Except for dickerling over the purchase price between Owner Joe Cambria and Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, details were virtually complete.

It became a matter of cash when the New York Yankees, owners of the Newark club, said they'd be elated to have the Giant farm across the river.

Reports had been the Beans would claim infringement of their territorial rights.

"The more good baseball around New York the better," said Ed Barrow, general manager of the Yankees club. "It's a natural for Newark."

Joe Cambria, president of the Albany club, was quoted as offering the Albany franchise for $25,000 during the recent baseball meetings.

Larry MacPhail, former general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and the Giants, had nothing for it, and now the asking price is $60,000.

Despite the jump, Stoneham said today "we will probably close the deal with Cambria on Tuesday."

There is an old baseball law that an organization club cannot start operations within 10 miles of another without permission from the original holder of the territory.

Stoneham pointed out, however, that Jersey City held a franchise in the International league until February 25, 1933, when it was transferred to Syracuse.

The Giants have obtained an option to use Jersey City's new municipal stadium, Stoneham said.

SASSE DRILLS SQUAD IN RAIN

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Dec. 18. (AP)—The Mississippi State Maroons were in the rain today, continuing their activities to signal drills and similar work designed to get the hook in form for rough work next week.

Coach Ralph Sasse began reorganizing his team for the Orange Bowl game against Duquesne at Miami New Year's Day.

Major Sasse ordered the players out into the rain to drill and had them go through two hours of work, mostly conditioning, but put them through the routine of passing and punting as well as rehearsing plays.

His 32 huskies will get plenty of work next week, Sasse announced to day.

DAVISON-PAXON CO.
MADE WITH CARE, THE BEST.

It's a little bit difficult, when the toastmaster gets through with his little introduction, to climb up on your feet and start talking.

Not that the talking is so difficult. But the choice of your talking material is difficult.

This is the period when dinners are given for football teams and players. And most of them are for high school boys.

It's a real wallop, seeing the high school teams. They look just like what they are—eager American boys. Very much alive and very much excited about football and their own team.

You get up and look at them. And you feel you'd like to just forget everything and have a talk with them.

You'd like to tell them that when they get to college it won't be all so simple. It ought to be, but it won't be. There will be a dozen men for every position. The whole thing will be more or less impersonal. The modern coach lost something which the old coach had with his small squad. He could get to know every boy and his problems. The modern coach has a difficult time with that. He has 40 and 50 men where the old coach had 18 or 20.

You'd like to tell them to take a scholarship if it is offered. And once it is taken to get all the value out of it. You'd like to tell them that when they come in from practice, to get down to those books. Their legs and backs and heads will ache from just being tired. They'll be sleepy, terribly sleepy. But you want to tell them to bear down just the same, to get something out of those books.

THAT, AND OTHER THINGS.

That, and other things, too, are among the items you'd like to mention.

But you stand there. And you know it's their night to have a good time. This is their party; their night when the glories of their season are paraded.

And you know you'd be just a plain mugg to get up there and spread a lot of serious advice on what would otherwise be a cheerful evening.

You never know whether to tell a few of your stories; relate an incident or so which has at least some humor; congratulate them on their season, and let it go at that.

FOOTBALL CAN HELP.

Football can help. Football can be of assistance in developing a sense of co-operation; it can teach the value of teamwork; it can remove selfishness and it can teach discipline, and, in this manner, develop character.

But it can do this only when the boy wants it to do so—only when the boy will permit it. Football, per se, will not do it.

Football is a great game. And while it is commercial, and while admittedly the recruiting of high school players is very highly organized and entirely commercial, the game remains a good game.

Larry Kelley, the retiring Yale captain, spoke at a dinner the other night.

"The game belongs to the boys," he said. "When the whistle blows they take over the game. They forget about pay checks and commercial aspects, which they know, and they play the game because they like it."

And that's true. But so many boys never see beyond the cheering of the crowds; never see past the glamor and the heroics and the hysterics of the game.

And that's what worries you when you look into the faces of high school players whose big dream is making a college team.

It's great all right. It's a thrill to trot out there wearing the uniform of your school and to hear the roar of the crowd greet you. It's great to be in there playing.

But all that is over in a few years.

And that's why you'd like to tell them about getting something out of those books, no matter how much the legs and the back ache.

Because, when the last year of college is done, that's all they'll have left—what they got from books and associations.

But, if you did all that, you'd be just a serious mugg, ruining an evening of fun.

THERE ARE A FEW COLLEGES.

There are some colleges yet where the boy is exploited. They don't care if he graduates; they don't try to see that he goes out of college with something in his head that will fit him for some of the problems he must meet.

They want just three good years of football out of him and that's all. They figure he gets his expenses and they are all even. They aren't.

Most coaches today have an active sense of their duty. They see to it that their boys graduate. Harry Mehre, at Georgia, took a great deal of pride, for instance, in announcing at a recent dinner that every senior on the Georgia team would graduate this year.

You'd like to stand up there before the boys and tell them that you've seen what fame can do. And fame can do mostly harm.

The clippings cut from newspapers; the headlines and the pictures—they fill up scrapbooks. But that's all. They can't be exchanged for lamb chops. Or cashed at the bank.

You'd like to tell them to be careful—that football will find them taken care of in a manner which is rather wonderful. Managers buy tickets. Managers and coaches make out their menus. Every detail is cared for. They ride Pullmans and sleep in lower berths.

You want to tell them about boys you've known who, when they got out of college, were a little bewildered. Somehow they had an idea everything would be taken care of for them when they were through. And they never quite got used to standing on their own feet.

Rickey Admits Dean Unlikely to Leave Team

But Whatever Happens, Branch Sees Pennant for Cards.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Branch Rickey, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, said today Dizzy Dean, ace pitcher, probably would not leave the team.

Rickey, who sought to peddle the eccentric hurler for a small fortune in cash and almost a complete baseball team, quickly added that didn't mean he was going to quit trying. It was just that no one seemed willing to pay the price.

But whatever the outcome, Rickey saw a National pennant for the Cards in 1937.

"Dizzy is one if" confronting the team, pointed out Rickey as he discussed baseball affairs from a comfortable office chair while snow swirled down outside.

"We are stronger now than we were very much now that any one will get very much for him. So I hope he is a classified pitcher for us if he is with Lon Warneke and other pitching strength I'm counting on, we should win the pennant."

Paul Dean, younger brother of Dizzy, ineffective most of last season because of a sore arm, is not being counted on.

"We can't tell anything about him until spring training camp," Rickey said.

Dean Admirer Eased by News.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Maurice Dean, Northrop, 10, of Des Moines, felt relieved tonight—he's sure the Cardinals aren't going to trade Dizzy Dean.

For weeks he has been reading that the Cardinals, his favorite baseball team, might trade or sell his hero, Dizzy. In despair he wrote a letter to "the manager of the Cardinals, St. Louis."

Maurice said: "If you want to win the pennant next year, don't sell Dizzy Dean."

Today came the reply that eased Maurice's fear:

"You can rest assured that unless we can make the Cardinals a stronger club in trading Dizzy Dean we will do so. Our only thought in considering Dizzy is the strengthening of the Cardinals."

"With best wishes for a merry Christmas, I remain,

Yours truly,
SAM BREADON.
President St. Louis Cardinals."

Decatur Is Beaten Twice by Russell

Russell High defeated Decatur in a twin bill Friday night at Russell, winning both games by close scores.

The Russell girls won, 35-33, when Longino sank a last-minute field goal to end a 33-33 tie. Davis performed the same feat for the boys by sinking two field goals in 30 seconds to overcome a 24-20 lead and a 16-15 half time.

Last night's game were the last for both schools till next year.

ORENSTEIN CAN'T PLAY A MINUTE IN PREP BATTLE

Game Starts at 2 O'Clock at Ponce de Leon Park.

By Roy White.

Boys' High and Lanier High, of Macon, will battle at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Ponce de Leon park for Georgia's prep football championship. The game was given the championship label Friday afternoon by J. L. Skinner, of Augusta, president of the Georgia Interscholastic Athletic Association, following four weeks of controversy over the eligibility of certain players at Riverside Military Academy and Lanier High.

Riverside's shield was upheld, and a counter protest filed by Riverside, against Lanier High was not allowed Friday, thus paving the way for today's championship game, with no strings attached.

HEAVY BLOW.

Boys' High suffered a heavy blow late Thursday afternoon when Orenstein again hurt his knee, and turned in his uniform Friday morning. It was not until Friday, however, that he was definitely out of today's battle, along with Brooks Sheldon, center, who was hurt again this week.

The remainder of the squad is in excellent condition and rearing to defend the G. I. A. title, which the Purple have won the past two years, and are leading on the new Dartmouth alumnus trophy.

Preparations are being made for the largest crowd of the year, despite the late season date. The advance sale at Boys' High certainly indicates a record crowd, and reports from Macon show the largest group of visitors ever to come here for a prep game.

A special train has been chartered to bring Lanier's supporters here and a special section of the grandstand will be reserved for Macon supporters. Lanier High's crack band also will be included in the special.

SECOND SUCH GAME.

Today's game marks the second time within the past four years that Lanier has been beaten on its home ground for the state championship. In 1933, Lanier beat Tech High, 7 to 6, in a scheduled game, and the Smithies came back to beat the Poets by the same score to win the championship. It was a rule of the association that the winner of the northern division play the winner of the southern division for the title of the state champion.

And on October 23 Boys' High and Lanier fought to a 6-6 tie at Ponce de Leon park. It was the second tie for Boys' High since the 1933 season, when the Purples started a 34-game winning streak which ended with a 5-0 defeat at Miami

Final Tech Scrimmage Today; FitzSimons Quits Hospital

ALEX BELIEVES LAWRENCE HAYS CAN PLAY SOME

Preston Will Miss Rough Work; Jackets Looking Good.

By Jack Troy.

Rainy weather for once did not interfere very greatly with the work of the Tech football team, for Coach Alex had announced in advance the squad would take things lightly yesterday.

The squad was cheered by the news that Captain Mit FitzSimons had recovered to such an extent he was allowed to return home yesterday.

He was expected to be called out of the house before Monday, however. It may be that since it is the last game for Captain FitzSimons, attending physicians will permit him to play a short time in the California game next Saturday.

All trace of the infection which caused him to be taken to a hospital last Friday night had disappeared.

However, he had spent a full week in bed. It was just a week ago last night that he suffered a chill at the dinner table and was sent to bed at home.

TREATED FOR FLU.

Foster FitzSimons, his father, thought at first he had the flu, but treated him accordingly. Mit was given a big dose of quinine and tucked in bed.

When his condition grew worse, doctors were called in to examine him, and it was revealed that infection had spread from a small cut on his foot. Attending physician was of the opinion that the boy just in time. It was a streptococcal infection and was affecting glands in the groin.

Mit declared he was a very patriotic sort of person. "I have red streaks running up a white leg, and an I blue," he said.

Coch Alexander said yesterday he believed Lawrence Hays, alternate captain, would be able to play a short time. Hays has been working lightly in training clothes all week because of an injured ankle.

PLAYING IT OUT.

Phil Chance, his senior tackle, is really the only varsity player who has no chance to face the Bears. Chance is definitely out with a knee injury suffered three weeks ago.

The final scrimmage before the California game will be staged today, weather permitting. Coach Alex is placing the full-length game at Grant field.

Charley Preston, who is scheduled to play at tackle in place of Chapey, will not be used in the scrimmage. Preston has recovered from a siege of the flu but remains sort of weak. He's got plenty of signal practice all next week.

The Jackets, while handicapped by the loss of key players, nevertheless have looked great in the scrimmages this week.

There has been an unprecedented amount of passing. The offense has been changed about considerably. Many new passing plays have been added and the players have got them down to a fine point.

WISE TO FOES.

The Jackets are not fooling themselves. They can punch big holes in the rugged California line. Hence, the need for passes in protection and wide sweeps operated by Dutch Konemann, Scrappy Edwards and Jimmy Moore.

Fans will see Konemann in the role of passer, kicker, buckner and wide runner. The Flying Dutchman is going to display versatility that is not exactly discovered. He passed and kicked in high school and also hit the line.

During most of his playing days at Tech, however, he has been used for wide sweeps and pass receiving.

Ticket sales are mounting. It may be that an estimate of 32,000 spectators is too conservative. The way things are going and granted the weather is fair next Saturday, the crowd may total better than 15,000.

HALT IN NAVY BUILDING SEEN AS STEEL FIRMS IGNORE U. S. CONTRACTS

Lack of Metal Is Threat as President, Cabinet Propose New Ships.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and his cabinet pondered today whether to build new battleships to match mounting naval power abroad, but the Navy's present shipbuilding drive suddenly threatened to bog down because of lack of steel.

The Navy's high command found itself unable to buy all the steel necessary for new craft already authorized; an unprecedented situation which, in the opinion of high officers, was probably due to the new Walsh-Healey act.

This act declared that firms which contract with the government must observe a 40-hour work week, pay "prevailing wages" and observe other government-imposed labor standards. Since it was passed, steel, copper and some other firms have been less eager to bid on government business.

EUROPEAN BIDS.

When the proposals were opened today only about 25 per cent of the offering was covered. Several of the largest steel concerns entered no bids.

Naval officials declared if manufacturers continue to turn a cold shoulder on government orders, a shortage of materials, likely to interfere with the construction program, may be part of the steel involved in the bids which were ignored by the steel industry today was to be used in six new destroyers.

The Labor Department has the power to grant exemptions from the operation of the Walsh-Healey act. It was recalled that powerful labor leaders supporting the administration have favored wide application of Walsh-Healey act standards.

ASKED EXEMPTIONS.

Secretary Perkins, emerging from a cabinet meeting, said the navy some time ago requested blanket exemptions from the act but this was refused.

She contended the law was not responsible for any material delays in the navy's program.

Though several big steel companies entered no bids, an exception was the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company, which filed bids totaling about $80,000. The Lukens Steel Company bid on several items but stipulated it must be exempted from the Walsh-Healey act.

SUBMIT BUDGET.

During his press conference today, the first in more than a month, Mr. Roosevelt said he would deliver his annual message to Congress in person and follow it with submission of his budget report. Both will be presented shortly after the session opens January 5.

Mr. Roosevelt added he would delay until spring submission of estimates for next year's relief appropriations, but would submit a progress during its first week for a deficiency appropriation of $500,000,000 to meet WPA costs until the end of the present fiscal year June 30.

FRENCH BODY ALTERS LABOR DISPUTE BILL

PARIS, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Despite government opposition, the French senate today altered Premier Leon Blum's bill for compulsory arbitration of labor disputes by eliminating as sole arbiters two powerful workers-employers confederations.

Premier Blum's measure sought to establish a committee of arbitration composed only of members designated by the general confederation of labor and the employers' confederation.

The adopted senate bill provided for a committee of arbiters designated by prefects from lists of all workers and employers' unions, including non-members of the two big confederations.

The upper house action was considered a direct slap at the government since Leon Jouhaux's confederation is one of the elements of the popular front.

The measure was returned to the chamber of deputies.

Earlier, the popular front regime obtained indorsement of the 1937 French budget in the chamber.

F. D. R. WASHES HANDS OF PART IN SQUABBLE FOR HOUSE LEADERSHIP

Certain Quarters Term Act
"Slap at Garner," Who Is Backing Rayburn.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—President Roosevelt washed his hands of the bitter house of representatives leadership fight today in a manner so emphatic as to be construed in certain quarters as a slap at Vice President Garner.

The President said he never has and never will during his tenure in the White House mix in any such battle as the present one was waged between northern and southern Democrats for the position of majority leader.

In answer to a question at his first press conference since his return from the South American peace trip the chief executive refused to speak for or against Representative John J. O'Connor, of New York, or Sam Rayburn, of Texas.

GARNER BACKS RAYBURN.

Vice President John N. Garner, who put away his fishing tackle and took up the Texas state constitution while the President was cruising in southern waters, crawled out on the limb for his pal, Rayburn.

Later, United States Senator Joe Guffey, another White House favorite, swung the Pennsylvania delegation to Rayburn and there were other indications that the President wanted Rayburn made majority leader.

Most of this feeling was dissipated today by the President's statement. The action of Mr. Roosevelt has been of considerable assistance to the cause of O'Connor and has aided the New Yorker's fight to win the place.

Informed by The Constitution correspondent of the President's statement, O'Connor said:

"I was confident all along that the President would take care of me when he returned."

Mr. Roosevelt, obviously pleased with the opportunity to take his name, at least publicly, out of the leadership squabble, pointed out that he could best explain his position by presenting recent house history. He said there had been three speakership contests since 1933 and that he had scrupulously avoided meddling in any of them.

WANTS RAYBURN.

The word has been whispered—perhaps simply talked in a better word—around the house office building that the White House wants Rayburn rather than O'Connor.

There is added importance to the leadership fight this year because Speaker William Bankhead, of Alabama, who has been in failing health for most of the year, may possibly decide to resign before the gavel before the session is over, in which case the majority leader would have first claim to the speakership.

If Rayburn should win over O'Connor, the south would have the vice presidency, the speakership, and the floor leadership in the house, and the north would have the whip hand over congress and the members from the north.

Many southern members are supporting O'Connor on the grounds that it would be politically unwise for the south to have the show in view of the several important key positions the second largest state in the house and senate organization structure.

O'Connor has a strong claim to the post in that he is now serving as acting leader.

ITALIANS CONQUER BRITISH TRADE POST

Ethiopian Action Raises Delicate Issue Between Rome, London.

ADDIS ABABA, Dec. 18.—(AP)—

The British trading station at Gambela, western Ethiopia, fell today to the Italian flying column which is occupying western provinces in the name of Emperor Victor Emanuel III.

The column found natives already had raised Italian flags. There was no attempt to hold back the Italian marchers.

The occupation brought to an end British influence in that section of Abyssinia. But it raised a question between London and Rome.

The Italian troops formally notified the British commander of the incorporation of the town into the Italian empire.

The London and Rome government must now decide what is to become of the British treaty rights in Gambela. Britain acquired these rights by treaty with Abyssinia, May 15, 1902, which gave her extraterritorial possession of 1,000 acres of land on the Baro river on which she could construct trading post buildings.

A color motif of red, silver and green was carried out in the exquisite decorations. Silver vases of red roses were placed at graceful intervals with silver candlesticks, each glazed silver candle, adding to the beauty of the table decorations. Garlands of tulips outlined the edge of the table and small bouquets of red roses marked the places reserved for the ladies.

Palms, foliage plants and baskets of red roses provided a background

Take the vibrator to that bump of yours on the back of the neck. Massages will help you to iron out this cushion of fat, and then—if you will just hold up your head, you can keep it away. You will also find the vibrator useful for fat pads about the shoulders and upper arms. ***

The various kinds of massage which you can slap and knead the lumps with the hands, roll them away with a rubber roller, or smooth them back into line with an electric vibrator. You might like the electric vibrator that fits on the back, with its pads of the rubber, and which is used in a close switch to a Swedish massage. Another type is attached to a handle and gives a rotary motion that is very effective in breaking down the fat pads. Stimulating the circulation and softening the lumps make it easier to reduce in the right spots. ***

Another good hip massage is to roll from the waist. Lie flat on the back with the arms stretched straight out at the sides, in line with the shoulders, knees drawn up toward the chest and legs crossed at ankles. Keep the shoulders relaxed but flat and twist at the waist, rolling the hips to bring the side of the thigh on the floor, then roll to the other side. ***

Any measure which stimulates circulation is helpful in reducing. Cold showers raise the metabolism and stimulate circulation, not only at the time but for some time afterward. A shower with 60 degrees water will double the blood content, and at 40 degrees will triple it. ***

Cold showers should be taken only if you react well to them. If your doctor approves, condition yourself to the low temperature gradually, beginning at 65 degrees. Follow with a hot rubdown with a rough cloth. If you are afraid, you may also like the friction mitts, which are used in the bath. ***

Don't make the mistake of thinking, however, that massage, cold showers, etc., let you out of exercise. To keep your figure smooth, you must strengthen the weak, lazy muscles which are responsible for bulges. ***

MASSAGE AWAY BUMPS.

If you are overweight only here and there, try massage. You can smooth away those annoying little pin-cushions of fat on which exercise seems to make no impression, and there is nothing like massage to soothe the kinks out of your nerves and to perk up circulation in the bumpy spots. ***

A triumph for femininity—this pretty frock of cotton just see its flattering lines and delightful sleeves that may flare gracefully outward or be caught into demure puffs. 300 TEXTILE LEADERS
FROM SEVEN STATES
HOLD SESSIONS HERE

Constitutional NRA for Single Industry Asked From President by Group.

More than 300 textile executives, members of the Southern Cotton Garment Manufacturers' Association, representing 100 manufacturers in seven southern states, are in Atlanta attending a two-day business convention at the Biltmore hotel.

The meeting will adjourn this morning with a business session, at which J. H. Bonck, of New Orleans, president, will preside.

The session was opened Thursday night with an informal meeting. Yesterday was spent in discussion of the two major problems confronting southern textile manufacturers. Norman Zolezzi, of Nashville, principal speaker at yesterday's meeting, said:

"The two problems now facing textile mills in the South," Zolezzi said, "are the demand of organized labor that they be able to locate in this section with taxes free and other considerations, and the present menace from prisons which are manufacturing millions of yards of cloth each year."

A resolution was adopted yesterday to be forwarded to President Roosevelt calling for some form of a constitutional NRA to cover the entire textile industry, in that way avoiding the evils that now exists, Zolezzi stated.

Other officers of the association are M. Rice, Atlanta; W. J. Vernon, Moultrie, and E. H. Heitzberg, Nashville, vice presidents, and L. H. Jones, Nashville, treasurer. Headquarters are in Nashville.
